COMMITTEE ON WATER QUALITY

Terms of Reference: Mandate

Under the direction of the Prairie Provinces Water Board (PPWB), the Committee on Water Quality (COWQ) shall investigate, oversee, review, report, recommend and advise the Board on matters pertaining to the water quality and aquatic ecosystem integrity of interprovincial waters.

The responsibilities of the committee shall include directing, planning, and coordinating a water quality monitoring and trend assessment program by identifying monitoring requirements and overseeing transboundary monitoring and synoptic surveys. The committee shall promote an ecosystem approach to water quality management and the protection and enhancement of interprovincial waters by ensuring the compatibility of water quality guidelines, objectives, sampling and analytical protocols, monitoring approaches, quality assurance and data bases. It shall interpret data and identify, investigate and define existing and potential interprovincial water quality problems through the application of PPWB Water Quality Objectives, trend assessment and other approaches. The committee shall inform the Board and member agencies, through the PPWB contingency plan, of any spills or unusual water quality conditions that have the potential to adversely affect interprovincial streams. It shall assess the implications of these problems and may recommend remedial or preventative measures for avoiding and resolving water quality issues and if required, additional synoptic water quality monitoring.

The committee shall foster awareness and understanding of the importance of effective water quality management, encourage the use of "state of the art" procedures for evaluating water quality and identify research needs pertinent to water quality management on the prairies. The committee shall facilitate effective water quality management practices through integration of agency initiatives and the promotion of joint planning on interprovincial streams.

The COWQ will engage the Committee on Hydrology and the Committee on Groundwater on items of mutual interest or when the expertise of those committees will assist COWQ.
